After more than four years finally a new album by spitfire! But the band from russia has not been lazy in the meantime, that's what one can easily experience by listening to the songs. Musically they expanded their spectrum – the as yet used and known mixture of ska and punk does'nt play the leading role anymore. Now you can listen to groovy reggae-tunes and poppy hymns, that are played with the well known spitfire punk-attitude we are familiar with, but also jazzy songs are no problem for this band. To come up to this variety of musical styles, we decided to release this album on the musically more diversified vielklang-label instead of putting it out on the pork pie label being more focused on ska.

Music from russia nowadays attracts more and more attention, wich can be seen from projects where musicians from spitfire take part as well: they appear on recently released compilation and audiobook of Wladimir Kaminer's „Russendisko“. Also the band „Leningrad“ touring europe and america for the most part consists of musicians from spitfire.
